Safety Red and Safety Yellow coatings are intended for line marking and small areas of demarcation, due to reduced opacity. A white undercoat should be used and additional coats may be required.

Pale colours may show some cosmetic discolouration on exposure to UV light. Please contact Altro technical services for further information. Altro resin products provide a tough and practical solution. However, as with most industrial and commercial flooring, in some situations resins may suffer scratching, chemical attack or staining. Please contact Altro for further information.

Experience has shown that printing cannot reproduce colours accurately.

If colour choice is critical, please request an individual sample of the product colour you are interested in.
